Winner of Anne’s Riddle of the Week this week!

William Drew

With Honorable mention to: Nicole Zhang & Audrey Dilgarde

Here was the riddle:

Romeo and Juliet were found lying found dead on the floor in a bedroom. There was no sign of struggle, but there were shards of glass and what appeared to be some water on the floor. The only furniture in the room was an almost bare shelf with just a few books on it and an unmade bed. Except for a nearby railway track, the house was in a remote location, several miles away from town.

Here is the answer:

Romeo and Juliet were not star-crossed lovers, but two goldfish swimming in a glass bowl. They died when a train rumbled by, causing the bowl to skid off the shelf (alternative answer: when vibrations from a train passing by caused one of the books on the shelf to fall onto the bowl). The bowl broke on the floor, and the fish died.
