Keeping Ourselves Accountable
Every Wednesday, 3:00-5:00 p.m.
Bring in your academic work and join fellow students and a BSC counselor as we share and explore our common experiences and challenges with staying focused and getting our work done. We will discuss strategies for staying on target as we spend time each session working independently in this supportive, group setting. Join us every week or once in a while. To register, email asanfeliz@bsc.harvard.edu.
Creating a Life: What Really Matters?
Three meetings, at a time to be determined
We can be so focused on meeting the urgent demands in our everyday lives that we don't make time for reflecting on what is most important to us. The risk is that we could subsequently find ourselves down a path that has been motivated more by unconscious influences than conscious intention. This group will provide an opportunity to step back and engage others in thinking about the values that are most important to each of us in creating a life that has a sense of purpose and meaning. In other words, we plan to explore what really matters, not just for your current academic life, but for charting a course to the future. Call 617-495-2581 to schedule a 30-minute pre-group consultation meeting.

APPOINTMENTS WITH ME:
Have something you'd like to discuss? It can be academic or otherwise! Please follow this link to sign up for 30min appointment slots. If these times don’t work for you, just email me and we will set something else up. Also - Abby is ordinarily in from 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, and she always knows how to reach me.
